

Aristomenis Exadaktylos, Professor of Emergency Medicine, University Hospital Bern

Aristomenis Exadaktylos was born in Germany in 1971, to Greek parents. He grew attached to its Greek roots. He studied in England and in Germany. He got his medical degree in 1996. He continued his education in Surgery, Anesthesiology and Emergency Medicine in Bern (Switzerland), in Cape Town (South Africa), Johannesburg (South Africa), Dublin (Ireland) and Boston (USA).

In 2013, in the age of just 42 years old, he became the youngest Greek Professor in Emergency Medicine.

He is Director of the Department of Emergency Medicine at the University Hospital of Bern and the only Greek Professor and Director with his own Chair in Emergency Medicine throughout Europe. His Department's motto is, "You never work alone", giving great emphasis to teamwork in this specialty.
